

PRIVACY CASE NOTES

Identity theft – IPP 2

Whilst holidaying overseas, the Complainant's wallet was stolen but later returned. The Complainant approached this Office concerned that his identity may have been compromised due to the amount of personal identification contained in his wallet including his driver's licence details. The Office contacted the Northern Territory Motor Vehicle Registry where it was arranged for a new driver's licence to be issued with a new card identity number and new date of issue, although it was not possible to change the drivers licence number. The Complainant was provided with "A kit to prevent and respond to identity theft".